

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN

SANTOS CAMACHO CARDOZA,

Plaintiff,

Case No. 20-cv-264-pp

v.

ANDREW M. SAUL,

Defendant.

ORDER GRANTING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR LEAVE TO PROCEED WITHOUT PREPAYING THE FILING FEE (DKT. NO. 2)

The plaintiff has filed a complaint seeking judicial review of a final administrative decision denying his claim for disability insurance benefits under the Social Security Act. Dkt. No. 1. He also filed a motion for leave to proceed without prepaying the filing fee. Dkt. No. 2.

To allow the plaintiff to proceed without paying the filing fee, the court first must decide whether the plaintiff can pay the fee; if not, it must determine whether the lawsuit is frivolous. 28 U.S.C. §§1915(a) and 1915(e)(2)(B)(i).

Based on the facts in the plaintiff's affidavit, the court concludes that he does not have the ability to pay the filing fee. The plaintiff indicates that he is not employed, he is married, and he has no dependents he is responsible for supporting. Dkt. No. 2 at 1. The only income listed by the plaintiff is $353 per month in food stamps; he indicates that his "daughter + son help with bills" in the amount of $1,105 per month. Id. at 2. The expenses listed by the plaintiff total $1,458 per month ($850 rent, $568 other household expenses (groceries and utilities), $40 gasoline.) Id. at 2-3. The plaintiff owns a 2002 Audi worth approximately $900; he does not own his home or any other property of value; and he has no cash on hand or in a checking or savings account. Id. at 3-4. The plaintiff states, “I have not worked since 2015. We have no income. My daughter + son help us with paying our bills. We have no money for filing fees.” Id. at 4. The plaintiff has demonstrated that he cannot pay the $350 filing fee and $50 administrative fee.

The next step is to determine whether the case is frivolous. A case is frivolous if there is no arguable basis for relief either in law or in fact. Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 31 (1992) (quoting Nietzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 325 (1989); Casteel v. Pieschek, 3 F.3d 1050, 1056 (7th Cir. 1993)). A person may obtain district court review of a final decision of the Commissioner of Social Security. 42 U.S.C. §405(g). The district court must uphold the Commissioner’s final decision as long as the Commissioner used the correct legal standards and the decision is supported by substantial evidence. See Roddy v. Astrue, 705 F.3d 631, 636 (7th Cir. 2013).

The plaintiff’s complaint indicates that he was denied Social Security Disability Insurance benefits and Supplemental Security Income benefits for lack of disability, that the plaintiff is disabled, and that the conclusions and findings of fact by the Commissioner when denying benefits are not supported by substantial evidence and are contrary to law and regulation. Dkt. No. 1 at 1-2. At this early stage in the case, and based on the information in the plaintiff’s complaint, the court concludes that there may be a basis in law or in fact for the plaintiff's appeal of the Commissioner's decision, and that the appeal may have merit, as defined by 28 U.S.C. §1915(e)(2)(B)(i).

The court GRANTS the plaintiff's motion for leave to proceed without prepaying the filing fee. Dkt. No. 2.

Dated in Milwaukee, Wisconsin this 16th day of April, 2020.
